DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 5,6/5,10/6/5 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 1, line 6, 'the pulverizing circle' has no proper antecedent basis. Claim 9 is indefinite because of the 'advantageously' clause i.e. what range is being positively claimed? Claim 10 is confusingly worded and should be rewritten.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1,3,4,6/(1-4),7-9,10/(1-4),11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the admitted prior art (APA) in view of either Hogg, Akunov et al, or Gorobets et al. APA is the process steps listed in the first 4 lines of claim 1. No intermediate tank is used in these steps for recirculating and flow control purposes.

Each of the secondary references shows a similar process including the use of an intermediate tank. In order to provide for recirculating and flow control, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to modify APA by providing an intermediate tank, taught to be desirable by each of the secondary references. The uses of the particularly claimed valves of these claims would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the flow control art.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over APA in view of either Hogg, Akunov et al, or Gorobets et al as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Motoyama et al. The basic combination does not use a feed screw for densifying purposes which limits flow control. Motoyama et al solves this problem by disclosing similar process including the use of a densifying screw. In order to provide for better flow control, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to modify APA by providing a densifying screw, taught to be desirable by Motoyama et al.
